Professor Tjandra Y. Aditama, Director General of Disease Control and Environmental Health, Ministry of Health, Jakarta, Indonesia

Professor Tjandra Yoga Aditama, MD, is Director General of Disease Control and Environmental Health, Ministry of Health, Indonesia.

Professor Tjandra is the Responsible Person for the National IHR Focal Point in Indonesia, and was involved in Indonesia's response to H5N1 events and the 2009 influenza H1N1 pandemic. Prof Tjandra was also temporary adviser for several WHO activities and a member of the Review Committee on the functioning of the IHR (2005) and assessment of the international preparedness and response to the pandemic of influenza [H1N1] 2009.

Professor Tjandra has been Professor of Pulmonology and Respiratory Medicine, Faculty of Medicine, University of Indonesia, and DTM&H in London (LSHTM) and also Adjunct Professor in the Centre for Environment and Population Health, Griffith University, Australia. He has authored more than 100 publications.

Professor Tjandra has been involved in the health sector in government management positions and as an academic researcher. After finishing his medical studies, he worked as the head of health centers in several municipalities. He did his specialist training in pulmonology and respiratory health (infection consultant) at the University of Indonesia. He was the Medical Director of Persahabatan Hospital Jakarta in early 2000s.