

In the editorial section, Mahmood F Bhutta (314) introduces a campaign to improve conditions for workers who manufacture surgical instruments, gloves and textiles. Grania Brigden et al. (315) announce a new funding mechanism for research and development of tuberculosis medicines.

In the news section, Tatum Anderson (318–319) reports on efforts to prevent deaths from prescription opioids in Canada and the United States of America. Fiona Fleck (320–321) interviews Svetlana Popova about her research on the global costs and consequences of maternal alcohol consumption during pregnancy.

Measuring quality-of-care

Johanna Hanefeld et al. (368–374) list problems and solutions for low and middle income countries.

Preventing obesity and malnutrition

Hélène Delisle et al. (385–388) argue that more nutritionists are needed.