Objectives of Workers’ Health Program

1. To ensure healthy work environments and safe behaviour.
2. To promote behaviour and life styles that are favourable.
3. To prevent and control professional illnesses, accidents and other health issues.
4. To professionally re-adapt the workers.
5. To determine partial, temporary and total disability for working.

Promoting health, promoting sustainable development: it’s our health, our future and our choice.
“...An adequate economic and social policy must focus and be centered around the human being. If a policy that does not correspond to this content is elaborated, there will not be development or even peace...”

Fidel Castro Ruz
