

Clearinghouse on Male Circumcision for HIV Prevention

www.malecircumcision.org

Please visit the Clearinghouse on Male Circumcision for HIV Prevention — www.malecircumcision.org — a site designed to generate and share authoritative information about the role of male circumcision in HIV prevention. It contains:

- A browsable database of hundreds of scientific abstracts and full-text articles
- An inventory of research activities on male circumcision
- Tools and guidelines for provider training and programme scale-up
- Evidence-based protocols and guidelines
- A compendium of better and best practices
- User-friendly summaries of advocacy issues and civil society engagement
- An opportunity to sign up for an RSS feed on news related to male circumcision
- A global mechanism for exchanging and integrating information on male circumcision programmes and associated services

The Clearinghouse was developed by the World Health Organization \(WHO\), the Joint United Nations Programme on HIV/AIDS \(UNAIDS\), the AIDS Vaccine Advocacy Coalition \(AVAC\), and Family Health International \(FHI\) to provide evidence-based guidance to support the delivery of safe male-circumcision services as one component in a comprehensive approach to HIV-prevention services. Material on www.malecircumcision.org has been reviewed by experts from leading institutions around the world, including:

AIDS Vaccine Advocacy Coalition

Family Health International

Harvard University School of Public Health

JHPIEGO (Johns Hopkins Program for International Education in Gynaecology and Obstetrics)

London School of Hygiene and Tropical Medicine

UNAIDS

University of Illinois at Chicago School of Public Health

World Health Organization

The Clearinghouse on Male Circumcision for HIV Prevention is an essential Web site for all those working on male circumcision for HIV prevention -- a resource for sharing information, ideas and approaches. Please let your colleagues know of this new site. Thank you!

For more information, see: <http://www.malecircumcision.org>

