Emma Thomson
University of Glasgow
Glasgow, UK

Dr. Emma Thomson is an infectious diseases physician with a particular interest in hepatitis C (HCV) and in HCV-HIV co-infection. She works as a consultant in infectious diseases in Glasgow and London and runs a research laboratory with a focus on understanding the determinants of immunity and response to treatment during early HCV infection.