Universal Health Coverage means that all people can use the health care they need – prevention, promotion, treatment, rehabilitation and palliation – of sufficient quality to be effective, without risk of financial hardship.

Is this objective feasible for anaemia prevention and control programmes?

This month global leaders are discussing how to accelerate progress toward UHC. We all need to be well-equipped to respond to this question and join the conversations at the national and global levels.

Please join us for this webinar, as we discuss the opportunities that the call for achieving UHC brings for nutrition, especially for anaemia prevention programmes.

Speakers

- Dr Ellen Piwoz – Bill & Melinda Gates Foundation
- Dr Rebecca A. Heidkamp - Johns Hopkins Bloomberg School of Public Health.

Register here!