Injury and violence kill more men than women

Almost twice as many men as women die as a result of injuries and violence each year. The three leading causes of death from injuries for men are road traffic injuries, suicide and homicide, while leading causes for women are road traffic injuries, suicide, and fire-related burns. For each type of injury (except those resulting from fires), death rates are higher for men than for women.

Source: Global burden of disease, 2004